A LETTER FROM OUR FOUNDER

Your success is our success

We're all in the business of selling insurance as independent agents, but that doesn't mean we need to go it alone.

My father and I started Ritter Insurance Marketing in 2005 with five employees, seeking to support independent agents in their endeavors. Since then, we've partnered with Integrity Marketing Group to continue expanding and offering best-in-class service and support to insurance agents in all 50 states.

From licensing and contracting, to supplies and submissions, to commissions and succession planning, we work with agents and carriers to ease the burden of administrative tasks, paperwork, and problem-solving. Providing that back-office assistance is important to us, but so is giving agents easy-to-use, yet powerful tools that can streamline the sales process for all involved. Our in-house software and database teams develop and enhance industry-leading insurance sales tools based on suggestions and feedback from agents like you.

Every agent knows that, in sales, the relationship comes first. We're here to help you build lasting partnerships with more carriers and clients. After all, your success is our success.

With Ritter, working for yourself has never meant working by yourself. I hope that you'll consider joining us. Together, I believe that we can achieve so much more than we can on our own.
